VINEYARDS

2014 MERLOT • RESERVE SONOMA COUNTY • PICKBERRY VINEYARD

Tin Barn Vineyards celebrates hidden treasures that lie off the map. Our wines highlight the true character of Sonoma County.

High atop the ridges of the Sonoma Coast, just off Tin Barn Road, lies a remote plot of Syrah vines. From this fog enshrouded slope, we sourced grapes for our very first wine and derived inspiration for our name.

That was in the year 2000. Since, winemaker Michael Lancaster and his team have made a home in our own "tin barn"—a warehouse in rural Sonoma that serves as both cellar and tasting room. Here, we've joined with fellow wineries to form a collective known as Eighth Street Wineries. Come visit! Remember, though, that a map will only get you so far.

Pickberry Vineyard sprawls over 30 rolling acres on the northeast slope of Sonoma Mountain. Planted in the 1980s to volcanic soil, the vines are subject to balmy days and cool nights. Our first vintage of Merlot from this site offers a burst of wild cherry with a touch of chocolate and a luxe, lingering finish.
